Letter of Registration and Return June/July 2006

First, let me thank the College of Arms for the support and patience during the transition. All heralds involved made the changeover happen without incident. Sir L'Bet'e now has his hands full governing an Archduchy and I can sympathize with the amount of work he now faces. I am certain that Kincora will lead the empire in heraldic display in the very near future! Best wishes Kincora.

In Service,
Sir Coda der Sohn des Drachen
Adrian Reich souverän von den Armen

Returns

Albion

Caitlin Belle                      Personal              Device

Per fess Azure and Purpure, a butterfly Or.

- Conflict: Christina Tartaglione of Chesapeake
“Purpure, a butterfly Or marked Sable”

Markings do not count as a significant difference. One clear difference only for field division.

Alhambra

Eamonn mac Campbell              Personal              Device

Vert, a bend cotised Argent and over all a wyvern erect Or, dexter wing extended as if in display, breasted and langued Gules.

- Rule of Tincture: Most of the yellow wyvern is on the white bend. The main charge must be 50% or more over non-conflicting tinctures to pass. Make the wyvern large enough to cover the entire shield and this will more than likely make it.

Redraw and re-propose with the same proposal date on the form.

Gloucester

Elric Iron Drake                                      Personal              Badge

Sable, a dragon displayed Argent.

- Incorrect emblazon: Artwork does not match the proposed blazon. The artist has drawn (quite nicely) a Wyvern displayed contourné and not a dragon displayed. The image is somewhat stylized, which is allowable, however a more period appearance might get it past the visual check. A wyvern has four limbs. Two winged front legs and two hind legs. A (Western) dragon has six limbs. Two wings, four legs.
- Visual similarity: Though this charge also exists on a personal device, against this background there is a conflict. At a distance it is visually very similar to the following blazon and is therefore found to be in conflict with Sir Galadon Pendragon of Esperance; “Sable, a double-headed eagle displayed Argent.” Change the field to another tincture or add a border or second charge etc. and you’ve probably got yourself a badge...

Kincora

Christopher

Personal Device

Azure, a rose Argent and on a chief Sable three keys palewise, wards to dexter Argent.

Rule of Tincture: Sable ordinary (chief) on an Azure field. A chief is not a field division, it is one of the “Ordinaries”. Ordinaries are considered to be “On” the field and as such are subject to the Rule of Tincture. Exceptions: Gules chief on a Sable or Azure field –or- Sable or Azure chief on a Gules field.
