

Letter of Registration and Return March 2008

Greetings unto the Empire of Adria and the College of Arms,

We have begun a complete overhaul of the Armorial. The Deputy ISOA, Belt azure will be contacting all subdivisions to verify Estate and personnel arms.

Historical Category

As mentioned previously, in order to preserve for all, a reference of Adrian history. The flags of all chartered subdivisions that exist or have existed will be categorized as “Historical” and be protected by the College in permanence. With this, we will be reinstating various arms under the College of Arms as can be exemplified in this LoRR.

We are currently working on extending this effort to those who have sat as a crown also. Thank you to Griffin Queen of Arms Dame Claire for her efforts in this. We shall publish a full list next month.

In Service,
Sir L'Bet'e deAcmd
Fleur de Lis

Pembroke

Maison de Mer

Estate

Azure, a seahorse argent and upon a chief wavy three Fleur de Lis azure

Non Period Charge, A seahorse is classified under the category of monster.

Heraldically needs to be drawn with the upper part, head and fore-legs of a horse joined to the tail of a fish, which is twisted back, at the same time when correctly drawn the legs terminate in slightly webbed feet instead of in hoofs. Further a scalloped fin is substituted for the mane, and is continued down the back.

Maison Rouge

Estate

Argent, a tree eradicated gules and upon a chief dancetty Or three Fleur de Lis

Sable

R.O.T. Violation, Metal chief upon a metal field

Somerset

Sebastion Javier de la Cruz

Device

Sable a cross gules fimbriated and in bend two fretted crosses Or

Not the main concern, but the fimbriation needs to be a little thicker, doubling the size should do it. After researching I can find no historical use of a fretted cross. Only references to it as a theoretical possibility. The closest historical foundation could be in considering it "in cross five masculines interlaced". In order to consider this, the masculines would all need to be the same size. As drawn, the center masculine would be too large compared to the appendage masculines. Will need documentation as to the actual use of a fretted cross within our time period. Or adjust the size of the masculines.

Held over

Ansel de Grace

Badge

Fieldless, a heart gules winged inverted enfiled with a sword Or.

I am going to hold this for one more month to research the over all picture. For some reason I am being drawn back to the 80's with this. Just making sure its not Poisons Logo, or was it Ratt? For sure a descion next month.
